

Admirable Qualities

Some people in Israel admired Absalom for his good looks and promises. However, we can see that many of the things that he did were wrong.

Think about qualities you admire in people. Are they qualities on the outside, such as good looks? Or are they on the inside, such as kindness? Choose a person you admire in five categories. Write their name in the shape and one quality you admire about them.

How can thinking about what we admire in others help us learn about ourselves?
