Play Babylon Bingo

Materials Needed

Babylon Bingo Boards pp. 2-6*; Babylon Bingo Cards* pp. 7 -8; scissors; enough coins, poker chips, or tiddlywinks to mark off spaces

Note: If you do not have markers give students pens or pencils to mark off the squares. However, the boards cannot be reused if they are marked in this way.

Prepare in Advance

Print Babylon Bingo Cards pp. 7-8 and cut them apart. Print enough Babylon Bingo Boards pp. 2-6 for each student to have one or more. Gather other items.

New Church Concept Music

Songs in heaven are nothing but affections in audible form, for just as thoughts are expressed by speaking, so are affections by singing. See Conjugial Love 55

Review the story of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the fiery furnace by playing Babylon Bingo.

1. Give each student a Babylon Bingo Board. (The 5 boards given are arranged differently.) Let students look through the pictures. Ask what part each picture plays in the story.
2. Give each student enough coins, poker, chips, etc. to cover squares as they are called. Start by placing a marker on the center square.
3. Shuffle the Babylon Bingo Cards, pick up the top card and show it while calling out the word. Make sure each child can see the card and find the matching picture on their boards.
4. Each board has duplicate squares. Each time a card is read children may choose one square to mark off.
5. When you have finished going through the cards, shuffle them again.
6. The player who places five markers in a row—vertically, horizontally or diagonally—first wins!
7. If there is interest, replay. Optional: make the game more interesting in a small group by giving each child two boards to complete simultaneously.

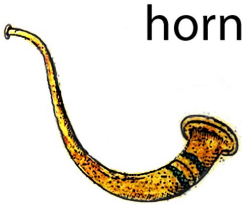

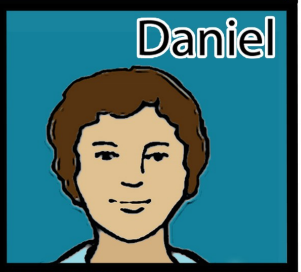

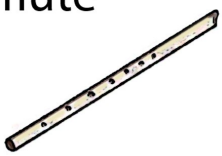

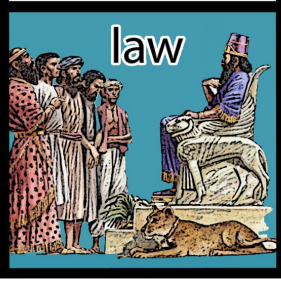

New Church Concept: Babel

People who are interested in external things and not in what is internal wish to be worshipped as a god and to have what is theirs venerated as something Divine, so far as their fear of the common people will let them. From this one may deduce that at heart they refuse to recognize the Divine and are constantly yearning to rise to higher positions, and so far as nothing stands in their way to the highest, and so finally to the throne of God, as is seen from those meant in the Word by Babel, who take all power away from the Lord and ascribe it to themselves. For they open heaven and close it as they please. See Arcana Coelestia 10412
