

FALSE TEETH

In a bad sense, the teeth of lions picture falsities that want to tear and destroy truths. On this drawing of a lion roaring, write a truth and then a false idea that wants to “tear” our understanding and application of that truth. For example, one of the Lord’s commandments is that we should not take His name in vain, using it in talking about something that is not holy. A false idea or rationalization that can damage our application of this truth is that everyone does it, so it can’t be that bad. One option is to write the truths and false ideas on small index cards to display around this lion.
