

Illustrate Names of the Lord

There is so much that the Lord does for us, and this is reflected in the many names for the one God. Because He creates and preserves us, He is called Creator and Preserver. Because He redeems and saves us, the Lord is called Savior and Redeemer. Because He enlightens and instructs us, He is called Enlightener and Instructor.

Choose one of these pairs of names to illustrate:

Creator and Preserver Savior and Redeemer Enlightener and Instructor

Suggestions for Illustrating the Names of the Lord

You can picture the Lord and/or what He does.

- For Creator you could picture the Lord with what He creates.
- For Savior you could draw a picture of the Lord with His arms out, ready to help us. Or perhaps you would like to picture a guardian angel, sent by the Lord to keep you from harm.
- For Instructor you could picture light coming from the Lord's Word. Or show yourself hearing the Lord's Word in church or Sunday School. Or perhaps you would like to show the Lord while He was on earth other teaching the disciples and the other people who came to learn from Him.

Possible Ways to Display the Artwork

Make a bulletin board showing the various ways people illustrate the names of the Lord.

Make a set of three illustrations (Creator, Savior, and Instructor or Teacher) and display them together in a book or taped together as a triptych.
