

Is the Road to Hell Paved with Good Intentions?

Do you think this well-known saying is true or false?

In what ways might it be true?

In what way is it false?

As you think about these questions, consider whether the Lord cares most about our thoughts, our actions, or our intentions?

For example, are we to blame if our actions have unintended consequences instead of the good outcome we expected?

What if we think about doing something kind for another person but let the opportunity to actually help them slip away?
