

SPIRITUAL TASK—SPIRITUAL COMMUNITY (Psalm 133)

by the Rev. David Roth at the New Church of Boulder Valley

Story We are created to live in communities with one another, learning to love one another as the Lord has loved us. This is part of respecting and living the second commandment of all: Love your neighbor as yourself.

Message To love others we are going to have to participate in their lives. We are going to have to strive to be genuine in who we are and be genuine in our concern for others.

Task This week find a community of people to give of yourself to. We are not talking about financial contributions, but contributions of your time, attention, thoughts, concerns and your self—the real you. Start being real and let people love you, and open your heart to love others in return. However you choose to do it, give it a try and see if the Lord isn't right in telling us we need one another. "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." [Psalm 133:1]
